* This week we are looking at our core Christian values across the curriculum.

* Watch the video on the blog. Children from Bishop Bridgeman have produced a fantastic video for this week, looking at our Christian values across the curriculum.

* What do our core Christian Values look like in the subjects in your school, across your school curriculum?

* What impact do these values have on the children and adults in your school?

* How do our values help us to decide what to do?

* How do our values teach us how to behave?

* How do our values help us understand what things are of worth?

* How do our values make our schools distinctive?

* How do Christian Values and British Values relate to each other?

* Use the window, mirror and door technique to reflect on our core Christian Values.

Ethos At Home

Activities you can do at home this week!
Christian Values

Make a heart jigsaws for people in your class/ school.

Heart Jigsaws

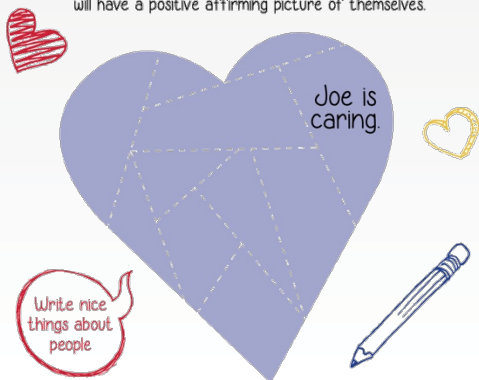

Aim

To develop self confidence through the exploration of the value of love.

You will need

A selection of paper, scissors, pens and heart shapes.

Children will draw around a heart template. The children will cut their heart into several pieces. It is advisable for each child heart to be a different colour then pieces do not become muddled. Each pupil is encouraged to write a positive comment on a jigsaw piece of another child as to why they like that person. Each child collects the pieces to their heart and fit them together. The outcome will be that each child will have a positive affirming picture of themselves.
